Boots & Shoes

No. 261 Main Street.

(Lambie's Old Stand).

MEMPHIS, TENN.

Hon. S. A. Champion, of Paris, is announced as a candidate for Congress in the Eighth District. The other candidates announced previously were Hon. B. A. Enloe and General A. W. Campbell. General Atkins is not a candidate for re-election. The three gentlemen in the field are able and popular. General Campbell is a brilliant orator and a successful lawyer and business man. He is rather an extreme Democrat, or has been. Mr. Enloe is one of the rising young men of the State. He has served in the Legislature, been Presidential elector and filled other important public positions, and always with credit to himself and satisfaction to the people he served. Until recently he was one of the editors of the Jackson Tribune and Sun. Mr. Champion has not been in before the public so long. He came from Kentucky several years ago, and at once took a prominent position as a member of the bar. He has been a delegate to several State Democratic Conventions, and was a delegate to the National Democratic Convention at Cincinnati in 1890. He was one of the counsel for the people in the famous 100-3 case. His argument made a profound impression upon the able array of counsel assembled and was complimented highly, even by the opposition counsel and papers. He is a man of nerve, of solid character and convictions. A Democrat is sure to be elected in the Eighth district, and whether Editor Enloe, General Campbell or Mr. Champion goes to Congress the people will be faithfully and creditably represented, as they have been so fortunate in the past.

When such a man as Hon. F. B. Ragland, of Brownsville, consents to become a candidate for Congress the people will be one of the good omen of the times. He has had every local honor that his neighbors could bestow. He has been successful as merchant and planter for forty years, and surrounded now by every comfort that heart could wish, he is certainly beyond the point when mere ambition could tempt him to enter the political arena. At the earnest solicitation of his friends, expressed at various times and places with unmistakable sincerity and earnestness he has consented to announce himself as a candidate. He states in a card that he regrets the circumstances that make the announcement necessary, that his own views of propriety and business arrangements will not allow him to enter into any active canvass, but that he reserves the right to visit such portions of the district as time, inclination or opportunity may offer. Col. Ragland is a gentleman of the old school and ripe, intellectual powers, yet in the prime of life and fully up with the times. In heart and sympathy he is young and vigorous. As a member of the State Senate and in all public positions of honor and trust, Colonel Ragland has proved himself a man of big brain and heart, of fine judgment and splendid executive capacity. He would command attention and respect in any representative assembly. In Congress his fine practical sense would make him one of Tennessee's most influential and useful representatives.

Egyptian Cotton.

No cotton has been shipped from Alexandria, Egypt, since the first week of the present month, and telegraphic advices from Europe announce that from the latest information it is estimated that at least half of the next crop will be destroyed or lost through the effects of the present disturbed state of the country, including the withdrawal of labor and the lack of proper irrigation in the cotton growing districts. A few remarks upon the culture of cotton in Egypt and the annual production with shipments to Europe will be of interest at the present time. The total shipments from Alexandria, Egypt, since the first week of the present month, and telegraphic advices from Europe announce that from the latest information it is estimated that at least half of the next crop will be destroyed or lost through the effects of the present disturbed state of the country, including the withdrawal of labor and the lack of proper irrigation in the cotton growing districts. A few remarks upon the culture of cotton in Egypt and the annual production with shipments to Europe will be of interest at the present time.

From the foregoing it will be observed that the total annual shipments from Egypt is about the same, on an average, as is handled here in Memphis, and is but little more than the annual production of the State of Tennessee. The yield of the State in 1879-80, according to the United States census report, was 330,644 bales, while Egypt shipped that year 371,000 bales, or but little over 40,000 bales excess, and this is more than offset by difference in weight of bales. In 1877-78 we handled in the Memphis market 412,265 bales, while the total Egyptian crop that year was but 301,000. The succeeding year Memphis handled 382,074, while Egypt shipped 393,000 bales. In 1879-80 this market handled 409,809 bales, and Egypt's total was 371,000 bales, or about 37,000 bales less.

The European consumption in 1879-80 was 5,766,000 bales; in 1878-79, 4,857,000 bales; in 1877-78, 4,846,000; in 1876-77, 5,238,000 bales; and therefore, the Egyptian portion ranges from 12 to 16 per cent of the European supply, or about the same relative quantity as the production of Tennessee is to the entire crop of the United States.

The culture of cotton in Egypt, as far as the seasons are concerned, is very similar to ours. The first picking is in October, the second in November and December, and the third in January and February. On lands subject to Nile overflow, known as Bahieh land, the seed is planted in March, while on the artificially irrigated lands which the Nile cannot reach, and known as Misoweh, the seed is planted during April, and three or four weeks later than the other. The latter, or artificially irrigated, produces the most superior cotton, as the land is better tilled, and about two-thirds of the entire cotton area is of this latter character. The Misoweh land is broken up three or four times, then harrowed with a rude implement, after which the seed is put in drills or furrows two feet apart. During growth the plants are thinned and the dirt is thrown against the rows with plows, while through artificial irrigation the fields are watered several times. On the Bahieh land the yield is less in quantity and inferior in staple, owing to deficient cultivation, and the output averages about one third of the other. That remarkable phenomenon, the annual Nile inundation, is caused by tropical rains, which commence under the equator in the early spring. These floods first fall into the White, then into the Blue Nile, and reach Egypt between the middle of April and the end of June. In the middle of July the red water appears, and the rise is generally highest by the end of September. A visible decline sets in during October, while by the end of November the waters are low and continue so until after cotton seeding time in April. It may be further stated that Egyptian cotton bears a close resemblance to the American article, and next to it ranks as the best that enters the European market. The relative difference in the value of Egyptian and American is small.

MUSICAL AND DRAMATIC.

Blind Tom is one of the attractions at Cape May.

Miss Emma Thursty, who is now in Paris, expects soon to visit Norway in company with Mrs. Ole Bull.

Miss Kate Forsythe, leading lady with John McCullough, is pronounced the finest swimmer at Long Branch.

The New York Herald says the performance of Wagner's "Parsifal," at Baireuth last Wednesday, did not shake the world.

Miss Lillian Norton, the American prima donna has made a very successful debut at the Grand Opera House, Paris, as Marguerite, in Faust.

A colored dramatic company will take the road next season in "The Exodus, or Pilgrims of the South." They hail from Kansas.

Minnie Madden is a splendid horse back rider. At her last matinee given in Chicago, the souvenirs distributed to the audience were cabinet photographs of herself.

Since the death of his wife, Edwin Booth has accepted no social invitations whatever, and appears still less in public, owing to the present illness of his daughter.

Mr. Eugene F. Gorman, manager of the Criterion Opera Company at New Orleans, has leased a theater there to give light English opera next fall and winter at popular prices.

Henry Irving is a very striking man in appearance, and the peculiar style of his dress makes him look as if he had stepped out of a fashion plate of fifty years ago. He does not accept many social invitations.

In private life Modjeska is a very charming woman, and affects pretty pathetic little ways that are immensely attractive. She has the most exquisite taste in dress. At a social entertainment given recently in London, she wore an elegant cream colored satin embroidered by hand in imitation of natural flowers.

Lotta is in London now, but has made no engagements. She says that she wishes to remain in Europe only for rest, as her American season is so long. At a recent entertainment where the little actress attended she wore an apple green satin dress, extending only to her ankles and fully displaying a tiny pair of pink satin slippers and pink silk stockings.

A Stormy Passage.

THE HON. CHARLES B. SIMONTON AS A WIT.

CORVINTON, Cal., 28.

Some time ago, shortly after that long siege of filibustering in the House to prevent the Republican majority in that branch from passing the last spark of political honesty and fairness in regard to the many bogus contested election cases of this Congress, by ruthlessly abrogating the rules that have governed the procedure of the House for the last fifty consecutive years, and seating all Republicans connected with a contested election case, in total disregard to and in defiance of all evidence, honesty and fair dealing, in pursuance of their corrupt doctrine of party policy and party interest. One session canceled or was forced to run up to the two hours of the night, adjourning just in time for a lot of members of both political parties to reach the last "bottled" street car of that night, which they swarmed and filled to overflowing, with some additional hanging on like grim death in the rear.

Hon. Charles B. Simonton, of this place, happened to be among the number, and some Republican, in a boasting spirit of tantalizing triumph, asked him to be seated. Knowing that a seat could not be had for either love or money, "No, thank, I prefer standing," was the modest reply. Here another Republican soloist, chimed in with his glittering wit and made this reply: "I should think you Democrats would prefer standing, you have been on the run so long," whereupon Captain Simonton modestly observed: "Yes, standing is agreeable to us; we feel as did Lazarus at the rich man's gate." "How's that?" was the quick query. "Because," rejoined the Captain, "we have been kicked by the dogs." This put a quietus on that chatter box of sparkling wit and political wisdom—and don't you forget it!

FOREIGN.

DUBLIN, July 29.—Anna Parnell is slightly better this morning.

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 29.—The Sultan, replying to the verbal representations of Lord Dufferin, British Ambassador, requesting the immediate issue of a proclamation against Arabi Pasha, stated that such a demand can not be made by England alone, but should proceed from the conference of the powers, in which case it would receive due consideration.

LONDON, July 29.—A dispatch from Constantinople to the Times says the Russian Charge d'Affaires has been ordered by his government not to attend any more meetings of the conference until he receives detailed instructions.

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 29.—The German Representative was instructed to recommend the Sultan to issue the proclamation declaring Arabi Pasha a rebel demanded by England.

Moukhtar Pasha has made arrangements which will enable the Porte to dispatch 20,000 men to Egypt in successive detachments.

ALEXANDRIA, July 29.—The fort at Gabari was destroyed this morning.

Admiral Seymour will reconnoitre the Aboukir forts tomorrow, but there appears to be some doubt as to whether a bombardment of the forts will take place, because it is thought that prisoners held by the Egyptians are confined therein.

A large powder magazine at Mekherom, from which it was supposed Arabi Pasha had recently taken stores, has been blown up by the British troops.

YELLOW FEVER RUMOR.

Deaths at Matamoros—Quarantine Against the Place.

CHICAGO, July 29.—A special from Laredo says: Advices from Matamoros, Mexico, state that a fever which has been prevalent there, called malaria fever, proves to be the most virulent type of yellow fever. It is rapidly spreading and black vomit accompanies it. There have been a number of deaths in the past four days, and the disease is regarded as epidemic. Col. Soti, of the Mexican regular army, has lost his wife and daughter, and is now dying himself. Brownsville and Matamoros have been quarantined against by all the lower Rio Grande towns. Great excitement and consternation exist throughout the States of Tamaulipas and Nuevo Leon, in Mexico. The news was received here yesterday and it is believed the coast cities will be quarantined against at once, as ships have been freely plying between Matamoros and other gulf towns.

A dispatch from Austin confirms the news above given, and says the State Health Officer there has notified the New Orleans Board of Health, and will picket the Rio Grande with rangers, if necessary.

The Weather.

WASHINGTON, July 29.—For Tennessee and the Ohio valley, cloudy weather, with rain and variable winds, mostly northerly, and stationary or lower temperature. For the Missouri valley, partly cloudy weather, with local rains; winds mostly easterly and stationary or higher temperature.

LONG BRANCH, July 29.—The Tariff Commission gave a hearing to day to C. M. Bonee, Jr., and William Henry Arnau, of New York, representing the interests of dealers in foreign newspapers, magazines and periodicals. They represented their business as unjustly discriminated by the law permitting foreign newspapers and magazines to come free through the mails when addressed directly to subscribers, while, coming in bulk to dealers here, they have to pay an ad valorem duty of 25 per cent. They ask that newspapers, unbound magazines and unbound periodicals be put upon the free list. No other persons asking for a hearing to-day, the Commission adjourned till Monday.
